

Wednesdays @ 3:30 PM

200 Waters Hall unless otherwise noted*

Sep
4

Toxic slugs and plants that can smell: unforeseen interactions alter herbivore populations

John Tooker
Penn State University

Sep
11

Is conservation enough to counter pollinator declines in landscapes committed to agriculture: lessons from the Prairie STRIPS project

Matt O'Neal
Iowa State University

Sep
18

Joint Seminar:
Economic development: moving plant science innovations to the marketplace

Bill Turpin
University of Missouri &

Sam Bish
University of Missouri

Sep
25

Building sustainable pest management programs for southeastern fruit production

Brett Blaauw
University of Georgia
Clemson University

Oct
02

Food web influences on the spread of a vector-borne plant virus

Dave Crowder
Washington State University

Oct
9

Title: TBD

Jean Luiz Simoes de Araujo
University of Missouri

Oct
16

Plant physiological traits to reduce the impact of drought stress on row crops production

Avat Shekoofa
University of Tennessee

Oct
23

Responding to the swarm: efforts to manage the new pest, Spotted Lanternfly

Heather Leach
Penn State University

Oct
30

Adding novel genetic variation to crop plants with the tools of biotechnology

Tom Clemente
University of Nebraska - Lincoln

Nov
06

A Sustainable Toolbox for our Family Farms

Stanley Culpepper
University of Georgia

Nov
13

Lepidopteran genomics: sex chromosomes and sperm proteomes

Jamie Walters
University of Kansas

Nov | 20 NO SEMINAR

Nov | 27 Thanksgiving Break - NO SEMINAR

Dec
04

Managing invasive plants in beef cattle grazing systems

KC Olson
Kansas State University